Lancaster Chamber seeking local photos

The Lancaster Chamber is searching for photographers to highlight the spirit of Lancaster County -- dynamic, action-oriented photography that represents the county's diverse people, places, and experiences. Your work will be credited and featured across marketing materials, websites, and campaigns aimed at inspiring people to "Land in Lancaster."

You're encouraged to submit in the following categories:

Community & Connection: Families, friends, and individuals enjoying Lancaster's neighborhoods, parks, and events.

Lifestyle & Leisure: Outdoor activities and visiting local attractions.

Dining, shopping, and nightlife scenes.

Education & Opportunity: College students engaged in campus activities, or young professionals at events.

Heritage & Culture: Showcasing the region's rich history, arts, and diverse cultural celebrations.

Also looking for photos that refer to some key locations, such as Lancaster City, Central Market, Clipper Magazine Stadium, Gallery Row, parks, etc.; the tourist industry; the riverlands spots such as the Susquehanna River; and the city's surrounding countryside.

Submission guidelines:

Images must be high resolution (300 DPI)

Include a brief description (location, activity, and demographics)

Include full-action shots, candid moments, and a variety of subjects and locations.

Selected photos will be credited in campaign materials and featured on the Land in Lancaster website and social media. Submit your photos to media@lancasterchamber.com. Include your name, college, and portfolio url. Photographers whose work is selected will be contacted by Justin Johnson of the Lancaster Chamber. For questions, contact the Lancaster Chamber at the email above.

Call for Art: Lancaster's Amtrak station

The City of Lancaster Office of Public Art seeks artists to showcase work in two glass-enclosed display cases at the Lancaster Amtrak Train Station. Create site-specific work inspired by or cohesive with the A Place for Every Piece: Lancaster's Living Quilt design.

Artists are encouraged to submit proposals for installations in the glass cases that either draw from or align with that work, by Libby Modern and Jill Good, which will fill windows in the station's main terminal. Proposals should include drawings, sketches, or renderings, along with a written description. While new, site-specific works are preferred, artists may adapt previous artworks, to fit the theme of A Place for Every Piece: Lancaster's Living Quilt.

This call is open to all professional artists and artist teams ages 18 and older. Each selected artist or team will receive a $1,250 honorarium to cover project expenses, including materials, fabrication, and installation.

Submissions are due by Jan. 20. For more details and to view the full call for artists, visit cityoflancasterpa.gov/office-of-public-art.
